MORRISVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Peck, visiting friends in Newport.

Bert Bean of Massachusetts, visiting his parents in town.

Get your steel traps and hunter supplies at Hawley Bros.—Adv.

Charles Miner and family of Barre were guests Sunday at Leon Jacques's.

Mrs. Mary Gilmore is passing the week at Frank McClure's in Burlington.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lease were business visitors Monday in Burlington.

Read Hawley Bros.' adv. in this issue. It will be a money saver to you.—Adv.

Follow the crowds to Hawley Bros. for the cut prices. You know cash talks.—Adv.

B. E. Reynolds and party attended the concert by the Irish band Monday in Burlington.

A Halloween social will be given by the first three year classes to the higher classes Monday, Oct. 30.

Congratulations are extended from many friends here to Prin. and Mrs. R. C. Mayo over the birth of a daughter.

The old-fashioned boil dinner of the South Cambridge Association will be held this week Thursday at O. C. Hitchcock's.

Student assemblies are planned to be held once a week. The first was given by the girls. One was given by the boys on Tuesday of this week.

Dr. A. J. Valleeau and C. H. Crane were in Burlington Monday, where they attended the concert given by the Irish Regiment Band at the Strong.

About $35 was realized by the church society from the dinner served Thursday to the horsemen, visitors and riders of horses of the endurance test of the government. Much praise and a gift was left to the ladies for the excellent dinner and courtesies received by so many from different states while visiting this village as a stopping point.

W. B. Patch very quietly observed his 76th birthday anniversary Tuesday at his farm home. During the day Mrs. L. Lavoy of Boston, Mrs. Cynthia Cooledge and Mrs. Austin Richardson of Johnson, cousins of Mr. Patch, were entertained at the Patch home. Mr. Patch is a Civil War veteran and remarkably active for one of his years. His great grandfather, John Brown, served in the Revolutionary War, his grandfather, W. M. Brown, and father, Caleb Patch, in the War of 1812, his son, Harold Patch, and grandson, Eugene Burroughs, in the World War, the latter making the supreme sacrifice.

The Morrisville Chamber of Commerce is beginning to be known outside of Vermont. On Tuesday of this week Walter H. Hood, field secretary of the National Recreation Society, of Brookline, Mass., came to Morrisville and conferred with the officers of the newly organized Chamber of Commerce in regard to locating a summer tourist campground for automobile parties. One of the officers of the Chamber of Commerce spent some time with him and Mr. Hood finally made arrangements with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hadley to use their farm for this purpose. A Chamber of Commerce certainly advertises a town as this little transaction demonstrates.

Morrisville Building Boom

deal was consummated last week whereby the remaining lots on Wabun avenue were sold to W. I. LeBaron and G. A. Wilkins and they have started to build six new houses there on, this fall and early winter. The cellar for the first house is being dug and the foundations are being put in as we go to press.

The prospects are bright for a building boom in Morrisville, which may, and we hope, will surpass any previous growth.

Following the big deal whereby the Nelson & Hall Company and other large interests secured the Peck, Stafford Company veneer mill and real estate, in that section of the village, with the announcement of plans to greatly enlarge the capacity of the plant and increase the business being done there, the need of more houses, now acute, will be extreme. Anyone seeking a tenement here will find that about the only way now to secure one is to buy it.

These lots were purchased of the Morrisville Improvement Company and consist of some 40 odd lots. This company was formed to provide houses for the new citizens that came here following the building of the Union Granite Company sheds, near the railroad on that street. The men interested in the company were E. A. and H. A. Smalley, the late Tom. Gallager of Hardwick and G. A. Wilkins.

Mr. Wilkins is the president of the New Chamber of Commerce and Mr. LeBaron is our leading contractor, whose work is too well and favorably known to need commendation from us. This insures first class construction and houses that will be a credit to the village and make happy homes for six more families.

This is a big start, but we ought to have at least 25 houses more built next season. That number could be rented within a week now if they were ready.

The first year of the new Burlington Chamber of Commerce saw 125 new houses built in that city. Morrisville is only a tenth the size of Burlington but she needs new houses just as bad as the Queen City.

Let everyone who has lots or means commence now to plan to build next season.

Do not wait longer hoping that materials and labor will be lower. Both are higher now, slightly, than a year ago and there is every indication there will be a slow but steady increase in prices from this time on.

Chamber of Commerce Membership Drive

Large Membership Already Assured—Thermometer at Postoffice—Watch It Climb

The membership committee of the Morrisville Chamber of Commerce, W. M. Sargent, chairman, A. H. Slayton and Roy Stafford, started out after members last week. The first step was the drafting of some mighty good helpers in C. H. A. Stafford, Levi Munson, M. B. White and E. H. Olmstead, and the enlarged committee entered upon the work of lining up every one interested in Morrisville for membership—as every loyal citizen is not only wanted as a member, but the degree of success the new Chamber of Commerce can attain is measured only by the loyal support of everyone who believes in Morrisville.

As rapidly as possible every family will be visited and everyone interested in Morrisville asked to take at least one membership.

The result of the first week of the great drive was even better proportionately than that in Burlington, as 170 memberships were secured. Those who could afford to take several memberships have responded nobly, taking even more in most cases, than expected. A very few only have declined to take one membership, simply because previous organizations, aiming at only a single of the many things the Chamber of Commerce will try and do, to make this village and town a "better and busier place" to live, have not been complete successes. As Mr. Wright so well explained, Burlington had tried them all, but there, as here, defects developed in each that prevented the consummation of many things, loyal and patriotic citizens desired to see done. They were not broad enough in their scope. The success of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce certainly ought to convince everyone that such an organization can do many things, perhaps a few big things. It surely has for Burlington and Mr. Wright says, he is sure that proportionately it can do as much for Morrisville.

Watch the thermometer in the postoffice window and do your part to put it over the top. It is up to you. The committee will give you a chance to show your loyalty to Morrisville.

WOMEN'S CLUB NOTES

The fifty or more ladies who braved the inclement weather on Monday evening, Oct. 23, and attended the Women's Club meeting at the library felt repaid for the effort to be present. The topic was "International Day" and the features of the program were of an unusual nature, but intensely interesting, highly instructive, and carried out very efficiently by people representing eight different nationalities. We first visited England, had Mrs. Goodfille as hostess, examined the articles from that country and listened to the singing of the national hymn of England by Mrs. Goodfille and Miss Lillian Goodfille. Then on to Ireland, where Miss Teresa Town presided, showing pictures of interest, a miniature harp, and a bit of shamrock. Mrs. Powers sang two Irish songs and we journeyed over into Scotland, where Mrs. Bruce greeted us and described Scottish ways and costumes, showed more pictures and a bit of heather, and Mrs. Dick sang "My Ain Folk." Mrs. Estivil represented her husband's country of Spain, related Spanish costumes and Mrs. Powers sang a Spanish melody.

Mrs. Bates had assembled a large collection of articles sent or brought from France by the boys. These were examined with much interest and "The Marseillaise" was sung by Miss Griggs. Italy next, with Miss Margie to give us ideas of life in her mother's home-land. Again Miss Griggs favored us with the Italian national song. Mrs. Wilborg told about the schools and churches of Sweden and passed Swedish cakes she had made for us to sample. Delicious they were, as were also the Scottish cakes brought by Mrs. Bruce. One article from Poland and a coin from Russia were shown.

Those who had put time and thought into arranging this most excellent entertainment may feel a sense of satisfaction at the pronounced success of the undertaking. The next meeting will be held Nov. 6 and the art committee will have charge. Ushers appointed for this time are Mrs. Anna Dodge, Mrs. Magoon, Mrs. Drowne, Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Spear.

At a recent meeting of the club, after an informal discussion, it was moved that this club go on record as being opposed to the commercialization of our religious holidays; and as members we pledge ourselves not to buy any cards that do not have appropriate Christmas and Easter sentiments.

Armistice Day Nov. 11
This, the greatest of all days, has a peculiar significance to all ex-service men and all who appreciate the sacrifices they made that liberty might not perish. A patriotic appeal for the celebration of this day of days will appear next week.

Home Demonstration Meetings in Lamolle County

Forty Hours' Devotion was held at St. Theresa's Church this week, beginning Sunday and closing Tuesday morning. There were several visiting priests from neighboring parishes and a large attendance of parishioners at all services.

R. S. Page, Clay Fisk, Frank Stewart and Brig. McFarland attended the U. V. M.-Dartmouth football game at Hanover last Saturday. Were they enthusiastic over the result? Well, we should say so, most emphatically.

Word has been received of the death of Miss Cleora Crowell at the Old Ladies' Home at St. Johnsbury. The remains will be brought here tomorrow (Thursday) morning for burial in the village cemetery, where prayer will be offered.

We notice several improvements at the pleasant home of W. L. Wright on Church street of late. Among the latest is a very attractive cupola and weather-vane, which adds greatly to the appearance of his new barn, which he recently painted.

Burial of Lyman Sherwin

Funeral services were held Thursday at the home of Elbridge Sherwin over the remains of Lyman Sherwin, late of Worcester, Mass., and burial was made in the family lot in the village cemetery. Mr. Sherwin was born in Hyde Park 76 years ago last April, the second son of Deacon Gilman Sherwin. With the exception of a few years he had always lived in Worcester, Mass.

Home Culture Club

The Home Culture Club had a very interesting meeting last Wednesday evening, the topic being "Art," led by Miss Alice Page, who gave a talk on Japanese art and displayed some very beautiful specimens of lacquered and enameled ware, bronzes and pictures, collected during her trip to Japan some two years ago. Other papers on "Dadaism" and Modern Art were read by Mrs. Anna Finnegan and Mrs. Dorothy Whitcomb. Mrs. Taplin of Washington, D. C., who has recently returned from England and Norway, gave a very interesting talk about her experiences in those countries. Next Wednesday, Nov. 1, the ladies will entertain the gentlemen at the Hyde Park Inn.

"Dewey" was in Craftsbury again Sunday. What for?
